Children's Rights

Imagine that you represent a country that is a member of the United Nations.

A new human rights' treaty is being written for children and young people. Your country needs to work out what rights all the children and young people in the world need to have the best possible life.

You must think about children and young people who are particularly vulnerable to mistreatment:

- Children and young people who live away from their parents and brothers and sisters
- Children and young people who are badly treated in their family or other institutions
- Disabled children and young people
- Children and young people who are in trouble with the law
- Children and young people who have to leave their country because of war, poverty, or some other reason
